Description

Sophisticated, alluring, the very essence of chic—the Molecule Plum-colored Candle is simply glamorous. In a muted shade of plum, the candle's glass is adorned in a delicate silvery pattern of curved lines. The organic pattern evokes flower petals and adds visual interest, further enhanced by the warm glow of the lit candle. The Underneath the Magnolias scent is floral and voluptuous, combining damask rose with delicate blue jacaranda and chypre accords of patchouli. Just light the cotton wick to fall under the spell of this alluring candle as the flame dances and flickers, exhaling the sweet scent of spring possibility.

- · Made with a blend of wax.
- · Cotton wick with braiding adapted specifically to the candle format and its fragrance.
- Fragrances created by French master perfumers, poured into a candle for even, controlled combustion,
- Intense, continuous perfuming, whether burning or not, for approximately 45 hours.

An elegant floral fragrance with spring accords captures the leisurely feeling of strolling under magnolia trees. A citrusy facet of damask rose is enhanced with lemon in the head. The heart is a floral bouquet of Arabia rose, blue jacaranda, and black jasmine. In the base, a warm blend of patchouli and amber is enveloped in a veil of musk.
